The CIPD in Scotland Annual Conference 2026

Sponsorship and exhibition opportunities

EICC

17 March 2026

Who we are

The CIPD has been championing better work and working lives for over 100 years. It helps organisations thrive by focusing on their people, supporting our economies and societies. It's the professional body for HR, L&D, OD and all people professionals – experts in people, work and change. With over 160,000 members globally – and a growing community using its research, insights and learning – it gives trusted advice and offers independent thought leadership. It's a leading voice in the call for good work that creates value for everyone.

Benefits of sponsorship

- Engage face to face with people professionals from organisations of all sizes and from all sectors in Scotland
- Showcase your products and services
- Raise your company's profile and become front of mind as an expert to People professionals
- Generate business leads

Become a sponsor or exhibitor

Whether you're launching new products and services, developing new business, exploring problems and discussing solutions or cementing existing relationships, the conference provides an exceptional opportunity to engage face to face with people professionals from organisations of all sizes and from all sectors in Scotland.
